ForumAdmin

Admin Forums page has 2 parts. It is accessible from main Menu as a sublink from Forums or by clicking adm in List forums.

Create/edit forum

On a new Tiki you must first create your forum(s) in this first part. After creation the forum will appear in the second part Forums so you can edit them. Here's a picture of this first part followed by a description of each setting you'll find.

Field De	escription
----------	------------

The forum name as will be displayed in the forum listing Name

Description A description of the forum

Prevent flooding If enabled then the users won't be able to post consecutive messages without waiting at least the indicated amount of time. This can be used to prevent a user from flooding the forum with messages.

The number of topics that will be displayed in each page when listing the Topics per page forum topics.

A user can be set as the forum moderator, when a user is the moderator he will Moderator be granted all the permissions for this forum.

Determines if a password is needed to post messages. Note that this is not fully Password protected implemented yet and the two options with protection are currently equivalent.

Password for the forum if it is set to be password-protected Forum password

Default ordering for

topics

How the topics will be ordered in the list of forum topics by default. Some options can be ascending or descending. Options are:

Date Creation date of the topic

Score Topic's score

Replies Number of replies (messages) the topic has Reads Number of times the topic has been read.

Last post Date of the last post in the topic (the last message posted)

Title Topic's title

Default ordering for

messages (threads)

How will be the messages for a topic ordered by default:

Date Message's date Score Message's score Title Message's title

this email

Send this forum posts to You can configure an email address that will receive all the topics and messages posted to the forum. This uses your Web server's outgoing mail settings. The resulting e-mails are not in an appropriate format for sending to the forum's inbound e-mail.

Forward messages to this forum to this e-mail address

See EmailToForumGatewaying.

Originating e-mail See EmailToForumGatewaying. address for mails from this forum

after

Add messages from this See EmailToForumGatewaying.

email to the forum

Prune unreplied If enabled topics that don't have a reply will be automatically removed after the messages after amount of time indicated.

Prune old messages
If enabled topics and messages will be automatically removed when they are older that the indicated amount of time.

Section Forums can be organized into sections, you can assign an existing section to a forum, create a new section or don't use a section. When listing forums they will be grouped by section.

This is an incomplete import from 1.6 pdf documentation Forums

Once a forum is created it displays in  ${f Forums}$ :

<img src="http://tiki.org/show_image.php?id=129" />

The edit link <img src="http://tiki.org//show_image.php?id=160" /> can be used to configure forum's settings common to all users. Clicking it will bring the forum's data in Edit this forum part (at top). The permissions link <img src="http://tiki.org//show_image.php?id=161" /> can be used to set-up groups' permissions for the forum. <img src="http://tiki.org//show_image.php?id=162" /> deletes forum.

Other pages about forums

- Forum
- ForumDoc
- ForumDev
- ForumSettings
- EmailToForumGatewaying