Table of contents

This is the final, planned release for the 8.x branch. Tiki 9.0 replaces Tiki 8.x.
What's New

- For users with tiki_p_edit_structures and tiki_p_edit permissions (in addition to tiki_p_admin_wiki), when adding new pages to wiki structures any direct object permissions from the parent will be copied to the new pages. Use the new option, feature_wiki_no_inherit_perms_structure to disable this behavior.
- The tiki_p_view_category permission is now required to display the Category path.
- Sidebar columns are now hidden if they don't have any content.
- Added support for stateful SOAP sessions and getting the full reply from .NET calls using "out" parameters. The statefulness assumes a session cookie is used. These features are disabled by default and must be activated by coding. For example:

```
$webservice = new Tiki_Webservice; $webservice->allowCookies = true; $fullResponse = true;
$reply = $webservice->performRequest($params, $fullResponse);
```
