

UserPageTraivor

Right now I'm working on proper comments threading and nesting for non forum comments. Here is a screenshot of the new default thread style which has been checked in to 1.8:

I don't care for this place at all. It is indeed small and well patronized. This means no place to sit. The music, while decent, is exceptionally loud, making conversation quite difficult.

I do like the fishtank, though.

As part of this work I've determined that forums and comments are too tightly intertwined. I've started a CVS branch, `BRANCH-forumslib`, in which to fix this. Forums code will be separated from `commentslib` (Done), and forum topics will be turned into first class citizens. This should simplify the code for bot forums and comments and maybe even boost performance a smidge.
